

College of Humanities and Social Sciences

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences offers career-sensitive liberal arts programs leading to baccalaureate and masters degrees, as well as specialized certificate programs. Bachelor degrees are offered in African and African Diaspora Studies, Communication, Criminal Justice, English, History, Geographic Information Science, International Affairs, Modern Language and Culture, Political Science, Psychology, and Sociology. Bachelor degrees are also offered in English Education and Social Science Education. Certificate programs provide training in alternative dispute resolution, professional politics, European Union studies, public history, geographic information systems, and legal interpreting. The college also offers a Master of Arts in Professional Writing, a Master of Science in Conflict Management, and a Master of Public Administration.

In addition to these programs of study, the college offers a wide range of elective courses in Anthropology, Geography, German, Italian, Japanese, Philosophy and Russian.

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences supports the Institutional Mission of Kennesaw State University with programs and policies which foster teaching and learning; professional service responsive to campus, academic profession, and community needs; and scholarship and creative activity in support of instruction, service, and the advancement of human understanding. The faculty, staff, and students of the college strive for excellence in undergraduate and graduate instruction with the goal of understanding human interaction across world cultures and time. Career-sensitive liberal arts programs emphasizing effective communication, critical thinking, problem solving, and global perspectives provide our students the knowledge, skills, and versatility to succeed personally and professionally in an ever-changing society. Students are provided a variety of learning opportunities that foster an appreciation of the richness of human experience and promote a balance between individual achievement and community responsibility.

The faculty and staff of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences are engaged in scholarship and service-focused professional initiatives that promote collaboration across disciplines, address both local and global problems, and enhance the quality of life of the diverse communities we serve. The college also serves all students at the university by providing instruction in the general education curriculum. The college provides services to the region through the A.L. Burruss Institute of Public Service, The Center for Regional History and Culture, and the Center for Conflict Management. The college also offers a wide variety of educational and cultural enrichment programs.

Accreditations

All degree programs in teacher education in the College of Humanities and Social Sciences are nationally accredited. In addition, the teacher education programs are nationally recognized and have state approval for 6-12 teacher certification in Georgia.

Academic Departments

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences houses seven academic departments:

- The Department of Communication
- The Department of English
- The Department of Foreign Language
- The Department of History and Philosophy
- The Department of Political Science and International Affairs
- The Department of Psychology
- The Department of Sociology, Geography, and Anthropology

Department of Communication (770) 423-6298

The Department of Communication offers a B.S. in Communication with the opportunity to concentrate in three areas: public relations, organizational communication, and media studies — emphasizing their applied, theoretical and aesthetic dimensions within culturally diverse settings. The study of communication helps prepare students to meet the challenges of today's information age. Emphasis is placed on critical thinking as well as professional and technical skills required to meet the demand of communication industries. Communication studies help prepare students to meet the challenges of the present and the future by developing research, analytical, written, organizational and presentation skills.

Department of English (770) 423-6297

The Department of English houses exciting opportunities in critical thinking, research, and analysis; commanding professional and creative writing and speaking; and the informed appreciation and understanding of written and presented cultures from traditional and current world literatures. It encourages students to engage distant and contemporary voices and to discover and train their own. Award-winning and experienced faculty committed to excellent teaching, scholarship and dedicated service prepare students for lifelong learning and immediate employment or toward professional careers in journalism, the law, the writing. It serves as a prerequisite for graduate study in a number of fields, including history or many other social science disciplines, law, and theology. The concentration in American History and Culture can equip students for careers in public history, especially if students complete the department's Certificate in Public History. The World History and Cultures concentration can prepare students for careers in the international arena, as well as for many positions in the government or for graduate study. The concentration in History of Ideas should be especially useful as preparation for graduate study in history, philosophy, law, or theology. In addition to the Certificate in Public History, the department also offers a Certificate in European Union Studies and minors in History, Philosophy, African and African American Studies, and Asian Studies.

Department of Political Science and International Affairs (770) 423-6227

The Department of Political Science and International Affairs offers courses that contribute to baccalaureate degree programs in political science and international affairs, a graduate program of study in Conflict Management, a certificate program in Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR), a Master of Public Administration, and a certificate in Professional Politics. The degree programs provide students the opportunity to prepare for a number of career options or for graduate and professional study. The certificate programs focus on skills development with a broad academic base. Students also build upon a common core of liberal arts courses to develop the intellectual and social interaction skills to promote personal growth. The department coordinates the pre-law, pre-professional program. A wide range of courses in United States and international politics, offer support for other college or university programs. The degree and certificate programs allow students the opportunity to take an internship or practicum in their field of interest, or to participate in the university's co-op program.

The department encourages student learning through extra- and co-curricular activities such as the Society for Legal Studies, Political Science Club, Global Society and Pi Sigma Alpha, the national political science honorary. Students are given opportunities to develop and demonstrate their skills through participation in Mock Trial, Model United Nations and Model Arab League simulation competitions.

Department of Psychology (770) 423-6225

The Department of Psychology offers a program that provides students with opportunities for personal and intellectual development, preparation for a wide range of employment opportunities with a bachelor's degree, as well as the necessary prerequisites for graduate education in psychology or for professional training in related fields such as law, medicine, business, management, education or social work.

Courses in the psychology curriculum give students a strong background in both the scientific and applied areas of the field. All majors complete the introductory course in psychology and a course on careers in psychology. A two semester research sequence follows which emphasizes statistics, methodology, and experimental psychology. Students then select courses concerning the foundations of behavior and advanced topics in psychology. Upper division electives in the major furnish students with additional background in an area of interest related to the discipline. The Senior Capstone Seminar provides closure to a student's undergraduate education.

Learning experiences in the classroom and laboratory are the foundation from which students can extend their undergraduate education in psychology to a variety of settings, such as practicum experiences in community-based agencies, collaboration on research with psychology faculty members, and individualized directed studies on topics of particular interest to students. In addition, extracurricular activities sponsored by Psi Chi (the National Psychology Honor Society) and the Psychology Club provide avenues for enhancing an individual's personal growth and identity as a psychology major.

Department of Sociology, Geography & Anthropology (770) 423-6739

The Sociology, Geography, and Anthropology Department offers courses that contribute to baccalaureate degree programs in Sociology, Geographic Information Science, and Criminal Justice. These courses prepare students to understand and deal with diversity, modernization and social change ranging from the local to global scale. The core competencies of its graduates prepare students to enter careers requiring technological facility, communication skills, data gathering and analysis, community awareness and involvement, problem-solving, critical thinking, an understanding of the structure and functioning of groups and organizations, greater awareness of their environment, critical self-reflection, and interpersonal and intercultural skills.

The faculty of the SGA Department strive to mentor students in a process of professional socialization in which students develop practical, marketable, applicable skills and take responsibility for their own lifelong learning. Students will understand sociology, geography, anthropology, and criminal justice as social science disciplines that strive to understand the world and have practical implications for career and personal success.

Major in African and African Diaspora Studies, B.A.

Bachelor of Arts Degree College of Humanities and Social Sciences Department of History (770) 423-6294

The Bachelor of Arts degree in African and African Diaspora Studies offers students an interdisciplinary educational experience that fosters an understanding of the global experiences of African and African-descended peoples in Asia, Europe, the Oceania, and the Americas. In particular, students will gain an appreciation for the diverse character of humanity, explore the complex historical and cultural relations between Africans on the continent and African-descended peoples in the Diaspora, and engage in a comparative study of issues affecting Africans in the continent and the Diasporas.

Students in the major will complete 33 hours of common requirements, including African language, Senior Seminar, and study abroad or internship. In addition, students choose one of three concentrations: Literature; History; and Social, Cultural and Political Issues.

Major in Communication, B.S.

Bachelor of Science Degree College of Humanities and Social Sciences Department of Communication (770) 423-6298

The program of study in communication offers a Bachelor of Science degree with an emphasis in one of three academic tracks: (1) Organizational Communication, (2) Media Studies, and (3) Public Relations.

The major requires 18 credit hours of lower division course work (1000-2000 level) comprising various offerings, both inside and outside of the communication discipline, that serve as important groundwork leading to advanced studies. Lower division offerings include basic courses in writing, communication research methods, public speaking, an introductory course relevant to the student's selected major track, and two courses outside communication that will support his/her studies within the major: Communication majors must earn a combined adjusted GPA of 2.5 or higher in COM 1129 and COM 1135 before they can enroll in any upper-division (3000-4000 level) communication courses. Regardless of whether the courses are taken at Kennesaw State University or at another accredited institution, the grades earned in these two courses will be used to check this GPA requirement. A course may be repeated if necessary.

Students must complete 36 credit hours of upper division course work (3000-4000 level) in Communication to fulfill their major program requirements, which include six hours of upper division required course work for all majors, 18 hours within one of the three tracks indicated above, and 12 hours of upper division communication elective credit. Studies within the tracks are designed to include course offerings that address both the applied and theoretical dimensions of communication.

Major in Criminal Justice, B.S.

Bachelor of Science Degree
 College of Humanities and Social Sciences
 Department of Sociology, Geography, and Anthropology
 (770) 423-6739

The Criminal Justice system is an institution that is at the crux of societal concern. People not only want to have a better understanding of these problems; many also want to become a part of the solution. The program of study infuses knowledge about criminal justice systems and process, communication skills, multicultural issues, crime context research, moral and ethical considerations, management concerns, and technological applications into the coursework. The program is geared toward two student groups: traditional and non-traditional age students who are interested in pursuing a degree and a career in the field, and criminal justice professionals who are seeking credentialing through a bachelor's degree. Following a core of required courses that includes cultural diversity, ethics, and foreign language, the student selects one of three major concentrations tied to his or her intellectual interests and career status and goals:

- Criminal Justice Administration
- Forensic Behavioral Sciences
- Technology and Crime

Bachelor of Arts Degree
College of Humanities and Social Sciences
Department of English
(770) 423-6297

English majors take 18 hours of courses in lower-division major requirements of the general education curriculum. These courses are designed as an introduction to the field of English Studies.

At the 3000/4000 level, students choose one course from each of eight categories reflecting different areas within the discipline: Language, Writing, Genres, Cultural Studies, Theory, and three period requirements.

The English major culminates in the Senior Seminar, which is the major's capstone course, and 9 hours of an applied/professional sequence. The applied/professional sequence consists of three additional upper-level English courses chosen to foster professional development in the subfield(s) of English Studies which the student aims to pursue upon graduation (e.g., creative writing, applied writing, advanced study of literature). The sequence may include ENGL 3398 Internship, or ENGL 3396 Cooperative Study.

All English majors must demonstrate competence in foreign languages up through the level of FL 2002.

Major in English Education, B.S.

Bachelor of Science Degree
Leading to Certification for Grades 6-12
College of Humanities and Social Sciences
Department of English
(770) 423-6297

This single field program is designed to prepare English teachers of adolescents, largely at the secondary school level (grades 6 through 12). It leads to 6-12 teacher certification in the teaching field of English/Language Arts in Georgia. Candidates complete the equivalent of a major in English/Language Arts and a second major in pedagogical studies with an emphasis on teaching English/Language Arts. The English education program aims to prepare teachers who have a broad, rich knowledge of the discipline of English (including courses in British, American, and world literature; language theory; and writing) and who enact an integrated, reflective, and theoretically informed pedagogy for English/Language Arts. This program is fully accredited by NCATE, National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education, is nationally recognized by NCTE, the National Council of Teachers of English, and is fully approved by Georgia's Professional Standards Commission for teacher certification.

The specific requirements for admission, retention, degree completion and teacher certification in this degree program are listed with all other teacher education programs. See Bagwell College of Education & PTEU.

Major in Geographic Information Science, B.S.

Bachelor of Science Degree
College of Humanities and Social Sciences
Department of Sociology, Geography, and Anthropology
(770) 423-6739

The Bachelor of Science degree program in Geographic Information Science (GISc) integrates Geographic Information Systems (GIS) technology with applied research domains. The principal objective of the proposed program is to produce high caliber graduates who are well trained in the technology, theory, and usage of GIS, computer science and information systems (CSIS), and basic geography. This knowledge will then be applied to one of three content areas: business systems, environmental systems, or urban systems. These three systems represent the largest and most common areas in which GIS is used in our society. Where GIS provides students with the technological tools, the specific content areas cited above provide the requisite theory and context.

Major in History, B.A.

Bachelor of Arts Degree

College of Humanities and Social Sciences

Department of History and Philosophy

(770) 423-6294

The program of study in history offers a Bachelor of Arts degree. All majors take several "general requirements" (including a 3-hour Senior Seminar) which provide needed background in research and writing, in the theory of the discipline, and in the various fields of history. In addition, the program allows selection of one of three concentrations: World History and Cultures; American History and Culture; and History of Ideas. Each concentration includes complementary interdisciplinary electives which students can tailor to suit their own interests. The History of Ideas concentration provides interdisciplinary study in both history and philosophy. Each concentration provides an opportunity for an internship or other applied experience to help students make the transition from undergraduate work into a career or graduate study.

A degree in history is useful to all students interested in careers involving research and writing. It serves as a prerequisite for graduate study in a number of fields, including history or many other social science disciplines, law, and theology. The concentration in American History and Culture can equip students for careers in public history, especially if students complete an appropriate internship, or for graduate study. The World History and Cultures concentration can prepare students for careers in the international arena, as well as for many positions in the government or for graduate study. The concentration in History of Ideas should be especially useful as preparation for graduate study in history, philosophy, law, or theology. The History Department also offers a "Certificate in Public History". The six course sequence is designed to enhance a student's ability to find employment in historic preservation, archival management, museum administration, or heritage tourism.

Major in International Affairs, B.A.

Bachelor of Arts Degree
 College of Humanities and Social Sciences
 Department of Political Science and International Affairs
 (770) 423-6227

The program of study in International Affairs leads to a Bachelor of Arts degree. The degree plays an integral role in the Department of Political Science and International Affairs and draws upon disciplines such as political science, economics, history, foreign language, geography and anthropology. In this interdisciplinary major, the student must complete seven required major courses followed by five courses in one of the three major concentrations.

Firsthand international experiences can be acquired through a coop/internship option or study abroad programs. This degree prepares graduates for careers in business, nonprofit organizations, law or government service.

Major in Political Science, B.S.

Bachelor of Science Degree
College of Humanities and Social Sciences
Department of Political Science and International Affairs
(770) 423-6227

Political Science is the study of the formal institutions of government and the actual behavior of people in public life. It examines both the institutions and processes of government using both empirical and normative research methodologies. A degree in political science is of value to all persons who take the responsibilities and opportunities of membership in a democratic society seriously. Specifically, political science is the undergraduate major of a majority of persons who attend law school; serves as prerequisite for graduate study in a number of social science disciplines; and is an ideal liberal arts major for careers in business, journalism, public and international affairs, the federal government, state and local government, teaching, interest groups, campaign management, communications, and many others.

Political Science has a number of subfields. There are six intra-disciplinary subfield perspectives identified in the KSU program: 1) American Government; 2) Law and Government; 3) Political Theory; 4) Comparative Government; 5) International Relations; 6) Public Administration. Majors are required to take at least one course in all six of the subfields in order to acquire an understanding of the breadth of the field and the career opportunities that are enhanced by study in the discipline. A three-hour senior seminar is also required of all majors.

Supervised internships and cooperative study programs at sites in business, industry and government are available and students are strongly urged to participate.

Major in Psychology, B.S.

Bachelor of Science Degree
College of Humanities and Social Sciences
Department of Psychology
(770) 423-6225

Psychology is the study of behavior and mental processes. It examines behavior and mental processes in an effort to serve human welfare. The program of study for a Bachelor of Science degree in Psychology requires freshman and sophomore coursework in Math, Computer Science and Information Systems, Business Information Systems Management, or the Natural Sciences and from a broad array of other disciplines combined with junior and senior coursework from a broad array of disciplines. Psychology majors are required to complete the general introductory course in psychology, a three-hour course on careers in psychology, and a two-semester research sequence. Seven additional junior and senior level psychology courses, including a Senior Seminar, are also required. Students select these courses in consultation with their advisor based on their interests or career goals. Students wishing to pursue graduate work in psychology or particular bachelor's degree careers will be encouraged to include specific courses in their program of study.

Major in Social Science Education, B.S.

Bachelor of Science Degree
Leading to Certification for Grades 6-12
College of Humanities and Social Sciences
Department of History and Philosophy
(770) 423-6294

This broad-field program is designed to prepare social science teachers of adolescents, largely at the secondary school level (grades 6 through 12). It leads to 6-12 teacher certification in the teaching field of social science in Georgia. Candidates complete the equivalent of a major in social science and a second major in pedagogical studies with an emphasis on teaching social science. Candidates concentrate in history since that is the principal social science discipline in the secondary education curriculum, and take additional course work in several other social science disciplines as part of their cross-disciplinary teaching field preparation.

The B.S. in Secondary Education is fully accredited by NCATE, National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education, is fully approved by Georgia's Professional Standards Commission for teacher certification, and is nationally recognized by NCSS, the National Council for the Social Studies.

The specific requirements for admission, retention, degree completion and teacher certification in this degree program are listed with all other teacher education programs. See Bagwell College of Education & PTEU.

Certificate in Alternative Dispute Resolution

Department of Political Science and International Affairs
(770) 423-6227

Conflict occurs in many different situations: between and among members of a family; between labor and management; in political parties, religious groups, formal organizations and nations; and even within a single mind. The actors in a conflict can be individuals, social groups, formal organizations, or political and social institutions. Consequently, the development of skills for peaceful and nonlegal conflict resolution or management should be an essential element of a person's formal education.

A certificate in Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) will offer fully-admitted KSU students the opportunity to develop skills that are helpful no matter what major they pursue or which line of work they choose. Students are required to receive at least a "C" in these five courses totalling 15 credit hours in order to receive the certificate. Applications for admission to the Program are available in the office of the Department of Political Science and International Affairs.

Certificate in Geographic Information Systems

Department of Sociology, Geography, and Anthropology
(770) 423-6739

A Geographic Information System is a computer-based system which provides information using geographically-referenced data. Computerized maps of various data (e.g. demographics, statistics, soils, vegetation) are overlaid to produce useful geographic information to decision makers. GIS can provide valuable locational information used for planning. It is an essential tool in urban and regional design, marketing and industrial location, and in providing government services.

Students must earn a "B" or higher grade in each of the required courses.

Applications for admission to the program are available in the office of the Department of Sociology, Geography, and Anthropology.

Certificate in Legal Interpreting

Department of Foreign Languages (770) 423-6366

Students completing the Certificate in Legal Interpreting (CLI) will be familiar with court procedures, learn legal terminology and interpreting skills in both Spanish and English. The certificate program will also emphasize the acquisition of relevant skills in cross-cultural communication. Students will be prepared to serve as interpreters for a variety of agencies in both the private and public sectors.

Prerequisites:

Students must pass an oral proficiency interview in the language in which the student is a non-native speaker (English or Spanish). The interview will be administered by a faculty member in the Department of Foreign Languages and will be evaluated according to the ACTFL Proficiency Guidelines for Speaking. An official Oral Proficiency Interview with a rating of Intermediate High or higher may be substituted. To be admitted to the certificate program, students must have a university degree or be enrolled in a degree program (a Bachelor or higher). The Certificate in Legal Interpreting will be awarded upon completion of all certificate requirements and successful completion of a four-year university degree or higher.
