1. Distinguishing Departmental Characteristics

The Secondary and Middle Grades Education program area faculty are committed to the collaborative development of expertise in teaching and learning. Programs for adolescents should be developed and implemented with input from various constituencies, integrate strong academic preparation grounded in a liberal arts tradition, include input from discipline studies, and include pedagogical studies while providing diverse, school-based, clinical experiences. Such programs foster the development of knowledge, skills, and dispositions required of professional learning facilitators who design and implement integrated instructional programs that are developmentally and culturally responsive.

The Department of Secondary and Middle Grades Education offers bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degree programs. Service courses are also offered to support secondary, elementary, and P-12 programs. These programs are facilitated through effective teaching, supervision, and mentoring; scholarship and creative activity; and professional service to advance teacher preparation and development.

Faculty performance in the Department of Secondary and Middle Grades Education is also expected to adhere to the mission of Kennesaw State University and the Bagwell College of Education. Some of the key elements of the departmental mission that determine faculty performance are as follows:

- 1. Effective and collaborative teaching that models the philosophy and best practices of middle and secondary schools;
- 2. Professional service that advances the preparation of teachers to educate adolescents;
- 3. Continuous improvement for faculty and programs through professional development;
- 4. The delivery of foundations courses to prepare P-12 teacher educators;
- 5. Effective use of technology to facilitate teaching and learning;
- 6. An enhanced understanding of the whole student through principles of diversity and inclusion (see Educator Preparation Program Diversity Statement);
- 7. The advancement of scholarship to contribute to the field of education;
- 8. A supportive classroom environment to educate preservice and in-service teachers; and
- 9. Collaborative relationships with local schools and other agencies committed to the education of adolescents.

2. Expectations for Faculty Performance

The Department of Secondary and Middle Grades Education includes faculty with wide ranging expertise from a variety of educational disciplines. The department is supportive of the unique contributions of all faculty members. Annual performance evaluations, tenure, and post-tenure reviews are conducted in relation to the situational context of each faculty member. General expectations for faculty performance and tenure and promotion are outlined in the Kennesaw State University (KSU) Faculty Handbook. Faculty should review very carefully each of the following relevant handbook sections:

3. Faculty Workload Configurations

The Department of Secondary and Middle Grades Education uses a responsive and flexible model to define workload configurations across the following three areas of faculty performance: 1) teaching, supervision, and mentoring; 2) scholarship and creative activity; and 3) professional service.

*Actual Faculty Performance Agreement (FPA) percentages for each faculty member will be negotiated with the department chair and approved by the dean as part of annual review.

The labor-intensity 3-dimensional model tries to escape from the Neoliberal "Audit Culture" (Shore, 2015¹) that is currently affecting higher education, which deeply relies on metrics and numbers that quantify people's performance without questioning its origin and rationale.

This model constitutes a shift in current workload and Promotion & Tenure (P&T) practices, since it is based on the time and effort faculty devote to activities within three areas of performance (Teaching, Supervision & Mentoring; Scholarship & Creative Activity; and Professional Service), rather than on the final products generated in a given period of time. Therefore, the model is intended to assess faculty performance, based on their rank and the intensity of the work conducted, by proposing a set of metrics that are based on the assumption that not only successful products should be taken into consideration to assess productivity.

As shown in Figure 1, the model includes three dimensions: Rank, level of performance, and labor/time. Based on these dimensions, the model has a set of metrics tailored to seven different workload configurations (Teaching Focused; Balanced Teaching; Balanced Scholarship (2); Scholarship Focused; and Administration Focused).

11. Clarifications of Metrics for Faculty Ranks and Level of Performance

Clarifications

- Activities/tasks included within each area of performance are supposed to be conducted in one year (two semesters).
- Points cannot be achieved for the same task in two different years if it is not an ongoing activity. For instance, an individual serving as chair of the Department's Promotion & Tenure Committee would get 3 points if the service has been provided for two semesters (i.e. Spring 2018 & Fall 2018). In the case of having served 1 semester, points will be divided by 2.
- New faculty (usually on a reduced workload configuration during their first year) will require special consideration since their productivity will only reflect one semester.
- Activities/tasks should be addressed only in one area of performance.
- Activities/tasks and applied metrics should reflect the workload configuration as outlined in the faculty member's FPA.

12. Revisions to Departmental Guidelines

The Department of Secondary and Middle Grades Education Promotion and Tenure Committee shall periodically review the departmental guidelines and make recommendations to the department chair regarding needed revisions. The department chair shall convene an ad hoc committee comprised of the departmental Promotion and Tenure Committee and other members of the departmental faculty appropriate to the process of review and revision of the guidelines. Revisions to the guidelines shall be voted on by full-time non-tenure-track, tenure-track, and tenured faculty of the department. Approval requires a simple majority vote.

Please read the information below carefully and thoroughly, and if you can access this information electronically to your satisfaction and agree to this Electronic Record and Signature Disclosure (ERSD), please confirm your agreement by selecting the check-box next to 'I agree to use electronic records and signatures' before clicking 'CONTINUE' within the DocuSign system.

Getting paper copies

At any time, you may request from us a paper copy of any record provided or made available electronically to you by us. You will have the ability to download and print documents we send to you through the DocuSign system during and immediately after the signing session and, if you elect to create a DocuSign account, you may access the documents for a limited period of time (usually 30 days) after such documents are first sent to you. After such time, if you wish for us to send you paper copies of any such documents from our office to you, you will be charged a $1.00 per-page fee. How you must inform us of your decision to receive future notices and disclosure in paper format and withdraw your consent to receive notices and disclosures electronically is described below.

Consequences of changing your mind

If you elect to receive required notices and disclosures only in paper format, it will slow the speed at which we can complete certain steps in transactions with you and delivering services to you because we will need first to send the required notices or disclosures to you in paper format, and then wait until we receive back from you your acknowledgment of your receipt of such paper notices or disclosures. Further, you will no longer be able to use the DocuSign system to receive required notices and consents electronically from us or to sign electronically documents from us.

All notices and disclosures will be sent to you electronically

Unless you tell us otherwise in accordance with the procedures described herein, we will provide electronically to you through the DocuSign system all required notices, disclosures, authorizations, acknowledgements, and other documents that are required to be provided or made available to you during the course of our relationship with you. To reduce the chance of you inadvertently not receiving any notice or disclosure, we prefer to provide all of the required notices and disclosures to you by the same method and to the same address that you have given us. Thus, you can receive all the disclosures and notices electronically or in paper format through the paper mail delivery system. If you do not agree with this process, please let us know as described below. Please also see the paragraph immediately above that describes the consequences of your electing not to receive delivery of the notices and disclosures electronically from us.
