

Eric Wearne

Provost, Holy Spirit College and former State of Georgia Accountability Official

Eric Wearne is the Provost of Holy Spirit College in Atlanta.

Prior to joining Holy Spirit, Eric was an Associate Professor in the School of Education at Georgia Gwinnett College, where he taught courses in education foundations and assessment for undergraduates.

Eric also served as the Deputy Director at the Governor's Office of Student Achievement under Governor Sonny Perdue, where he helped coordinate data analysis and reporting on all of Georgia's public schools and education agencies, facilitated research on Georgia's schools, and served as Governor Perdue's representative to the National Assessment Governing Board.

Focusing on school choice and education policy, Eric's work has been published by the Journal of School Choice, the Journal of the Society for Classical Learning, the Atlanta Journal-Constitution, and the Cato Institute, among others.

Eric began his career as an English and Debate teacher at Duluth High School in Gwinnett County. He holds a PhD in Educational Studies from Emory University, a MA in English Education from the University of Georgia, and a BA in English from Florida State University. Eric and his wife, Leigh Ann, live in Suwanee with their seven children.

