

Raj Pandya, M.D.

Dr. Raj Pandya is a visionary physician, inventor, and entrepreneur. A renowned orthopedic surgeon, he is the Founder and President of the Atlanta Orthopaedic Institute (AOI), AOI Surgery Center, and AOI Performance Physical Therapy, a clinically integrated healthcare ecosystem delivering world-class orthopedic care through a state-of-the-art destination clinic, ambulatory surgery center, and educational facility.

As a pioneer in orthobiologics, Dr. Pandya is the Chairman and Founder of PanOrthopaedics, a cutting-edge medical device company specializing in patented solutions that promote joint preservation and regeneration. Additionally, he holds patents in software and business technology as the Founder and CEO of Unicore Health, whose Human Optimization System 360 transforms physical disabilities into work capabilities.

Beyond medicine, Dr. Pandya is an innovator in the food services industry. As Chairman of the Board of Twisted Taco, he has helped expand the restaurant group to multiple locations across major university campuses nationwide. His latest venture, Azara Earth to Table reflects one of his core missions—promoting health and sustainability through food.

Dr. Pandya has served as Medical Director and National Speaker/Consultant for numerous global pharmaceutical corporations. He actively conducts clinical trials and is a recognized global lecturer in medicine, surgery, and entrepreneurship. He is also on the teaching faculty of Wellstar Medical Center and Morehouse School of Medicine and serves on the Board of Advisors for the Master of Healthcare Informatics at Kennesaw State University.

Passionate about philanthropy, Dr. Pandya is actively involved in both local and international charitable initiatives, including the American Diabetes Association, Chattahoochee River Keepers, and the Georgia Humane Society.
