MSN Recruiting Students for Study Abroad in Nigeria

Graduate nursing students at KSU's WellStar School of Nursing have an opportunity to travel to Nigeria in 2026 for a hands-on study abroad program with faculty, Dr. Adebayo, Dr. Samantha Yip, and Dr. Modupe Akintomide.

The course, Global Nursing Perspectives: Health Promotion and Maintenance in Nigeria, blends classroom learning with immersive fieldwork. Students will partner with local healthcare providers to conduct community interviews, assess health disparities, and design evidence-based interventions tailored to Nigerian communities.

According to Dr. Modupeola Adebayo, Assistant Professor of Nursing and Program Faculty Leader, "This program allows our students to see health promotion through a global lens while developing the skills to lead culturally competent care back home.

Before departure, students complete workshops on global health policy, research methods, and virtual simulations that replicate the social and economic realities of Nigeria. In-country, their experiences will include patient screenings, health education projects, and cultural site visits to the Osun River in Osogbo and Obafemi Awolowo University.

Application window opens on April 1, 2026. Information will be posted HERE.

GSA Hosts Shark Tank Event

On October 20, the Graduate Student Association (GSA) hosted its inaugural Shark Tank: Graduate Research & Project Pitch in the Joe Mack Wilson Student Center on Marietta Campus.

Graduate students were asked to pitch their research ideas, academic projects, or entrepreneurial concepts in a 10-minute presentation to a panel of faculty judges from the Engineering and Business programs.

Six graduate students presented their ideas in front of the judges and an audience of about 20 people. "The event was a huge success," said GSA President Rohan Jonnalagadda. "We had a great turnout and lots of positive feedback." The GSA plans to hold more events like this in the future.

Audience member Simone Brock, master's student in Integrated Global Communications, thought the event was a great idea and enjoyed all of the presentations.

"The judges were on it. They asked good, grueling questions, and make sure everyone who pitched fully thought out their business idea."

The Graduate College would like to thank all of the participants and extend congratulations to the award winners:

- Most Innovative Idea: Pritam Deb (Precision Public Health: A Two-Tier Cost-Effective Framework for Caries Prevention Policies in the U.S.)
- Best Feasibility & Implementation: Bradford Creecy (Moiren: Making Metal 3D Printing Affordable and Usable for SMBs)
- Best Presentation: Kimberly Smith (Qualities of an Effective Leader in the Architecture, Engineering, and Construction Industry)
- People's Choice Award: Kimberly Smith
- Outstanding Response to Questions: Reed Tumlin and Roderick Powell (Perception of Mobile Robots in Various Environmental Settings)
- Judge's Choice Award: An Pham (Meetless: Better Decisions. Fewer Meetings)
- Best Interdisciplinary Project: An Pham
