THE MANUSCRIPT MEETUP: CONNECTING EDITORS AND SCHOLARS

Join us for The Manuscript Meetup: Connecting Editors & Scholars, a KSU Libraries event which will bring together both student and faculty editors, authors, and scholars. The event will be held in room 101 of the Sturgis Library on the KSU campus as a part of the Office of Research's Research Week. Refreshments will be served.

This will be an open house-style event for editors and scholars to represent their journals, learn about other journals, discuss research, and network with potential authors. Take advantage of this opportunity to find a home for your work and connect with journal editors! To register, visit <https://kennesaw.libcal.com/event/11255193>.

KSU LIBRARIES LAUNCH SYLLABUS PROJECT

As a move toward affordability and student success, the KSU Libraries have embarked on a major purchasing project that will assist students with required course materials.

The library has been gathering syllabi and required reading lists from departments all across campus in an effort to purchase materials that are required for coursework. The project is in the early stages and will primarily focus on general education classes to reach as many students as possible in the first round of purchases. All purchases will be eBooks and have multiple simultaneous users, so students should not get turned away because the book is being used by someone else.

As a student success collection development plan, the Syllabus Project will support Affordable Learning Georgia's no cost/low cost course materials initiative. The Syllabus Project will help promote retention and progression toward graduation and will create a more student-centered library collection. For more information, contact Mary Ann Jones at mjone696@kennesaw.edu.
