1. National Art Education Association-Marni Roberts

Each of the students traveling are in the art education program at Kennesaw State, along with our Faculty member, who is an art educator himself. We will be attending the National Art Education Association's 2018 Conference. We will be connecting with other students and educators from around the nation who can share thoughts and ideas about art education and connect us to new ways of learning. The conference itself will have a number of informational workshops, lectures, and tables which will expand our ways of thinking about art education and further enable us to fulfill our mission: to teach others about Art. (4 students will be traveling along with the advisor)

2. American Institute of Architecture Students-Hala Alfalih

I am a volunteer on the committee for AIAS FORUM 2018. This forum is to network, hear from our sponsors, learn from other leaders, discuss issues relevant to architecture and design education, and conduct official AIAS business. Moreover, the new Board of Directors are elected from a pool of incredibly inspiring candidates as they have speeches, debates and networking opportunities with AIAS members, and I am running to be a part of this board of directors, so need to be available to campaign. (One student traveling)

5. Phi Lambda Upsilon-Shawn Allison

This is the semi-annual chemistry trivia night. This is a fun social event open to the entire campus and will be particularly beneficial to general chemistry students preparing for their final exams. Pizza will be provided and prizes awarded to winning teams. This event will be most appealing to general chemistry students of which there are approximately 1200 in the first chemistry course, so this has wide university appeal. In addition, all students are welcome to attend and the advertising will be campus-wide.
